INDUSTRY VETERANS RETURN TO INTERNATIONAL DECISION SYSTEMS

Minneapolis, MN – April 2, 2009 - International Decision Systems, Inc., a global market leader in software and solutions for equipment finance, announced the return of two equipment finance industry veterans. Joe Franco, most recently a director in the financial services global business unit of Oracle USA, and Mark Belec, most recently a director at Third Pillar Systems, return to International Decision Systems in new roles.

Joe Franco, a member of the company's sales force from 1996 to 2002, returns to the company as Director of Strategic Market Sales, in charge of building relationships with partners and other service providers, as well as assuming key account responsibilities. "We are seeing an increasing number of large-scale global opportunities, many of which require working in complex partnership relationships. Joe's experience with a major enterprise software company has enabled him to develop his skills building and nurturing these types of relationships," said Todd Davis, CEO. "Joe was a very successful sales executive for our company in the past. He comes back to us with an enhanced knowledge and understanding of our leadership role in the marketplace, and a tremendous enthusiasm to help our customers succeed."

Mark Belec's 23 years of experience in the industry includes developing a program to monitor portfolio asset risk in 1989 based on case law. He worked in the International Decision Systems Professional Services group from 1996 to 2001 before departing to PricewaterhouseCoopers to help support their Like Kind Exchange tax program. Belec now takes on the role of Product Manager for the company's Rapport® software, a workflow, origination and pricing application. "Mark's background is unique in that he has worked at leasing companies in the past, and has also supported both front-office and back-office software applications," said Gerry Perham, VP of Products. "Mark understands the whole equipment finance operation, and will be a tremendous asset to our company as a driver of continued market-based enhancements to Rapport."
